Academic Common Market - Regional tuition-savings agreement

The Academic Common Market (ACM) is a tuition-savings agreement between 15 southern states that are members of the Southern Regional Education Board. Students who attend a participating public institution may be eligible to receive a discounted tuition rate if their degree program is not offered at a Delaware public institution.

The 15 participating states are:

1. Alabama
2. Arkansas
3. Delaware
4. Florida (graduate-level programs only)
5. Georgia
6. Kentucky
7. Louisiana
8. Maryland
9. Mississippi
10. Oklahoma
11. South Carolina
12. Tennessee
13. Texas (graduate-level programs only)
14. Virginia
15. West Virginia

To be considered eligible for the ACM, you must be:

1. A Delaware resident for at least 12 months from the time of the application.
2. The student's degree program is not offered at Delaware State University or University of Delaware.
3. The student is accepted into an eligible baccalaureate or graduate-level degree program at a participating institution.

Note: The ACM does not include first professional degree programs, such as pharmacy, medicine, veterinary medicine, dentistry, optometry, theology or law.

Things to consider: Programs offered in the ACM are selected by the participating public colleges and are subject to change. States and colleges may also set restrictions on ACM participation, such as undergraduate or graduate-only enrollment; full-time enrollment; or the completion of specific coursework to enter the degree program.

Students can submit an ACM application once they have been accepted into an eligible degree program. Students who remain continuously enrolled in the same program at the same school, make satisfactory academic progress and retain Delaware residency do not have to reapply each year. Institutional requirements to retain ACM status may include full-time enrollment and maintaining a minimum GPA.
